IRELAND, an island, covers an area of 32,524 square miles. Its greatest length is 302 miles and its greatest width is 189 miles and no part is more than 70 miles from the sea. The country is divided into four historic provinces, Ulster, Munster, Leinster and Connacht. Ireland's fascination is legendary. The unique beauty of its landscape and its rich historic literary and artistic associations have long made it a favourite resort for tourists.
