

When you heard us we were testing non-directional (that was the first ^{this is your verification} day that we were on. We have a figure 8 ^{from} pattern with major lobes 70° & 250° T. We have a minor lobe at 335° T. We have abandoned this pattern now since we are going to 1 KW. The new pattern is the same as the old one except that the minor lobe has been replaced with a null.
