Dear Mr. Morse:

In reply to your recently received letter, I wish to earnestly express my thanks for the information you have given us.

This is the first time WHAK has taken to the air. Although it is only natural for radio signals to travel great distances during evening hours, it is nevertheless very interesting to note its effects in strength and quality over wide areas. I wish also to state at this point that we are only able to secure such information from letters and reports supplied by folks such as yourself who take the time and patience to listen and write.

After checking your letter against our log, I wish to verify the statements you made, in that they are accurate and correct.

Thanking you again for writing, I remain,

Very sincerely yours,

H. A. Klann
Chief Engineer
