Dear Bill:

Thanks for the signal report of February 4, 1980. I had our program director do a quick double check and that was us, okay!

KFWJ operates with 1000 watts and really struggles with all those other Western 980's.

Lake Havasu City is on the California border on the Colorado River, about 120 miles South of Las Vegas. We are principally a resort area. We have the London Bridge here as a tourist attraction.

I'm very familiar with Naturita, Colorado. We just got back from Telluride, skiing. In fact, I helped them build their little ten watt F.M. station, KOTO. What a strange (but fun!) little station!

Thanks for the reception report. I always enjoy receiving them. That was my hobby once, as ham radio is now.

Cordially
