Dear Mr. Nittler,

I'm sorry to have taken so long to answer your letter but I misplaced it shortly after it arrived and have just now located it.

I was pleased know that you heard my test broadcast of November first. I sometimes wonder as I sit there at 3:45 a.m. our time, if anybody is paying any attention. I have been especially curious lately as our monitoring station is in Austin, Texas, on Central Time and we have been having quite a hassle recently over whether I was supposed to broadcast the test at 4:45 Central time or 4:45 Daylight Time.

I have only been chief here a few months and yours is the first DX letter I've received. I may become a sort of dxer myself and see how far away I can put out a signal.

Best of Luck to you on your future dxing.

Very truly yours,

William M. Shimer
