Mr. Maurice W. Nittler
Box 94
Geneva, Nebraska.

Mr. Nittler:

This is rather late, but let me take the opportunity to confirm your reception of our station on the morning of February 16th of this year. We were happy to get your letter, and to know that our 250 watts was able to penetrate across the Rockies and into the midwest.

You might be interested to know that KULE is a relatively new station in a relatively pioneer area of the state of Washington. We are located in the Columbia Basin irrigation project, which is just now beginning to open up. Ephrata is a town of about 9200 people today, while in 1940 there were only about 800 people here. Every day brings new business and new settlers to our area.

We are happy to confirm your reception of our station, based on your report, and invite you to visit us anytime you are out this way.

Thank you for your interest
