Dear John:

This will confirm your reception on November 14, 1966 of the broadcast from KONI.

No, KONI has a non-directional antenna radiation pattern. However, we are located in the southeast portion of quite a large valley, and the nearest mountains to our west is about four miles away -- so we probably do a little better westward than eastward.

I suspect that your 4½-foot loop antenna is a great help in selecting one station out of several on the same or adjacent frequencies.

Very best regards,
