

Dear Friends!

Happy New Year!

Here is your long awaited confirmation of identification of 780 CFDR -- KIXX Country. All of you seemed to get a great reception on November 25th, 26th and then again around the 14th of December. It was very rainy in Nova Scotia on those dates which likely aided in you hearing the station so well.

Officially known as CFDR, KIXX plays contemporary country music. You'll be surprised to learn the station has only one live announcer, my husband, Gary Evong. He does a program from 6 a.m. to 9 a.m., and otherwise, the programming is computer automated with previously recorded announcements.

My husband is the Program Director for the station and also responsible for looking after most other aspects of the running of the station. Because of the enormous workload and responsibilities for just one person in keeping the station on the air, my husband has asked me to write this letter of confirmation for all you people abroad, and in the United States, who have tuned in over the last few months. He'd love to write to each one of you individually, but the time just isn't there.

In addition to our work responsibilities, I write news for one of Canada's national news wires, and we have two small children. Mercedes is two-and-a-half and Justin is eight months old. We live in a seaside community, about 40 minutes outside the province's capital of Halifax.

My husband and I have been working in the radio field for upwards of 15 years, he on the music, and me on the news side.

It was a pleasure to hear from you, thanks for listening and perhaps we'll hear from you again soon!

Chris Stover Evong
